Global Li-Ion Graphite Corp. Announces Proposed Name Change

02.03.2026 | Newsfile

Global Li-Ion Graphite Corp. (CSE: LION) (OTC Pink: GBBGF) (FSE: 0TD) ("Global Li-Ion" or, the "Company") announces that it intends to change its name to "LION Critical Minerals Corp." (the "Name Change"), subject to regulatory approval.

The proposed new name more accurately reflects the Company's strategic evolution into a focused provider of secure critical minerals essential to advanced energy systems, electrification, and national security infrastructure. The rebranding will align with the Company's broadened mandate and reinforce its position at the intersection of advanced energy technology and resilient supply-chain development.

Over the past several years, the global critical-minerals landscape has shifted significantly, with governments and industry prioritizing secure and diversified access to strategic materials such as graphite. The Company believes its proposed new name better captures its long-term intention to build a resilient, scalable platform positioned to meet growing global demand while strengthening shareholder value.

"This is a defining step in our development," said Jason Walsh, Chairman of the Company. "The LION name captures our focus on delivering secure critical mineral solutions designed for mission-critical supply chains. With a solid pipeline of commercial opportunities, we are well positioned to advance our strategy and build lasting value for shareholders."

The Company will announce the effective date of the Name Change once a date has been confirmed and Canadian Securities Exchange approval has been received. Trading of the Company's common shares will remain under the current ticker symbol, "LION".

No changes will be made to the Company's share capital in connection with the Name Change.
